11/3/84 - Love Focus, Jim to Vertical Focus in Love for Protection. The symbol for III.
Dwell Only on Perfection

Where two or more are gathered together, there also am I. So let us gather once again in love and let our hearts open to the love of God that lies within. Let us release all our doubts and fears and let us enter into the love that fulfills all and is the basis of all creation. For it is from that love that God created, and it is through that love that God understands and becomes one once again with himself. So as we the divine sparks of God go forth to understand the full expression of God divine, let us enter into that love daily and let that be the basis from which we function. For it is in love that all is successful.

Let the divine spirit, the holy spirit move forth at this time surround and fill us, guide and protect us upon this path of truth. Bring us into the wisdoms that will open our hearts and our minds so that we might fulfill the divine will of God. Let the love and the light that is God at this time manifest in words of holiness that might help each of us here upon this path. Bring us thy wisdoms, bring us thy truth, and let us enter into that truth in love and in joy so let it be.

at this time that
It is important/we point out a couple of things in order for you to better understand how to direct the flow of energy that is coming in and how to maintain it so that that flow is not disturbed nor distracted from its main purpose. As is stated in the prayer for the opening, we function from the heart of God in the light and the love source that is the principal force of creation. It is through that love that we operated and it is through love that we come forth this day for it is your love of God and in God that has drawn us to you to bring these wisdoms. It is, therefore, important to remember focus in love and you shall succeed. If you focus in the small self, if you focus within fear within emotions and mind then you focus in failure for truly when you focus within these realms you focus within the realms of negativity. Not negativity in the sense of wrong, but in speaking polarity-wise, you focus upon the opposite of God - you focus in the human self and not the God self. If you focus within love and then move from that center that is love out to do the work that you need to do, you shall succeed.

From a point yesterday to today, some questions and fears have begun to come forth and this is good for you are beginning to search within yourself an understanding of what is taking place. You are searching to find that point of commitment within yourself so that you will truly know that path that you walk is the path that you have chosen and that path you are walking upon now even today is truly a path that you are comfortable with and not one that was forced upon you. These struggles are good but you cannot come forth as a winner in this struggle unless you enter into that love and let the love be the guiding light. If you let the little mind and the emotions of the small self, the human self, be that which guides you, that path will be filled with troubles and turmoils and that path will seem as though invincible when you come up with problems. If you enter into that path with love, then those problems become situations and those situations will be resolved through the force of love. True the mind will have to focus and find a resolution to the situation, but the soul will come forth through the heart and give the mind direction as to which way to go in each situation as they are confronted.

These and the two polarities that we are dealing with here, the path of love in God or the path of fear of mind and self, the small self of man. We are at this time directing Jim in a new path of thinking - that path of thought that will hold him more vertical in his way of looking at the world. It is important that he begin that path of vertical expression. In order to do this we are removing him more and more from the emotional and the mental states. It will take time and it will be over a period of years that this develops. It will not happen immediately, but the first step is this. As we are directing him at this moment at the council chamber, we give you an understanding of that which we are directing him in. We are telling him this...

When you sense yourself in the presence of fear, of strong emotion, or of mind, it is important that you remove yourself from it and therefore, get up and leave or in some way indicate that there should be a change in focus in the conversation. If the focus does not change, then it is important to leave at that moment in order to preserve your own integrity and your own focus in God's light. So we say unto

You this - if Jim does get up and does walk out of a meeting or a session or even a personal conversation realize that there is something taking place within the realms of energy and the way that energy is being expressed that is causing a repulsion and causing him to be forced out of a situation at that time. If this happens do not take it personally thinking that there is something that he is rejecting within you but when this happens look deeply at what is being said, and try to refocus that energy as love and as time goes by you will see what truly is being stated here about the differences between the positive and the negative polarities of expression.

It can become a game in a way, because you too can help each other in this way. If you find others around you expressing the negativity, the small self, of fear and of mind, let it be known in some signal or in some manner that we need to refocus our expression at this time. In this way you will begin to focus more each day in that daily life that is God. Each day you will begin to learn to express more from the point of love in your heart and not just from a point of the small self within the mind and emotions.

At this time there is great concern within you concerning where the world is going and what the events of the future shall be. Let us state here that worry will not change it. Fear will not cause it to turn and be aimed in a different direction. Only love can change the direction of the flow of karma. For love can overcome all and love can change where fear only adds to that which already is. So when you feel yourself becoming concerned about tomorrow, step back and let love enter into that point of concern and translate it into a point of success for yourself and for humanity and realize that from each of them that takes place within the world, God is learning more about himself and God is releasing more of his wisdom through each event.

If you look at it in a destructive manner, if you look at it and take it personally, and as a limitation, then the lesson is not learned and the lesson will have to be relived. But if you enter into it in love, and look at each point in existence as a lesson being learned in God's own consciousness, then truly the success will be there in all that you endeavor to do. This is important if the foundation and the institute are to succeed for without entering into the point of love each day and entering into each situation in life with love, success cannot truly appear. So pave the path that you walk each day with love. Place in the heart of each human you come across that point of love in God and begin to see God in them as you are beginning to see God in your own heart.

This is an important lesson to learn, if you learn this, all else will be conquered and the future will be of no concern to you for the only moment that will exist will be this moment in God. Each moment will be successful for it will be filled with God in his love and in God and his love will guide you into those events that will lead you to the greater success. Even if the world will fall apart, you would stand in his light and his love, and in His success. We did not want the foundation or the institute nor any other organizations of spiritual expression to change the world for the world is not meant to be changed. It is man that is meant to be changed. Each individual who is ready for God is changing and growing and needs direction, needs guidance from those who can come forth in truth and point the way back to God. This is what the foundation and the institute are meant to do -- to show the way back.

True, there will be major events taking place in the earth and much of the change will come through institutions such as the foundation and the institute we are forming today. It is only appropriate that these organizations come into form now because is the time when man is entering into a new light, a new presence in God's awareness. And so, a greater form of light can come forth into the earth and bring about more change in the negative realms as well as the spiritual for each individual, for all of humanity, and for the world itself. So allow that light that wishes to express through and through you as a group, as a foundation, and as an institute to come forth and express. Do not try to force expression when it is not there, just allow expression to come according to the will and love of God.

It is very simple, but oh how we complicate it in our little minds. Enter through that simplicity that is God and you will find life to be simple, but if you take the simplicity from God and begin to build upon them with the mind of man, the complexities will build in such a manner that you will lose sight of God, and you will only have the complexities to look upon. Then you will be bewildered by that which you see because you will have created another separation between you and God and his expression of love through you and the group. So when you become complexed in the mind and in the emotions, realize that you are focused in the wrong light, realize that you need to move back into the center of the heart. Into that focus of light that is God and enter once again that simplicity and let the complexities melt away in that light that is the divine expression within.

If you can do this, the foundation and the institute and you personally will be successful in your endeavor to express God's love and enter into his conscious state of light and love. Whatever happens in the realms outside of God's light and love will only affect you in small ways but you will still be focused in his light and love and in that success shall come. Know that and trust that. We gave you the sense of that security days ago when we told you that through the changes that had been taking place, things are safe, things are good and things are protected. Live in that consciousness and know that that is true. We say it not, if it were not true. But realize too that in that same point, as you look out into the world there are those who have not yet entered into that safety and that security of God's light and love, and they are still struggling to come into a knowing and come into a being of awareness of his love and light.

So there you may see turmoil, there you may see struggles and battles and hunger, and pain and death; but know that that too is God searching to find himself in all that is happening. Reach out to those who seek to know, reach out to those who look and ask for help and bring them into that divine light that is all we are asking. You cannot go into total darkness and change the darkness by yourself, but together there is strength, but together there is change to come. Togetherness is not of self, but togetherness with God. Where two or more are gathered together, where you and God are united in one, all is possible. And so, let this be the lesson today that where two are gathered together, where God and man are joined in love, all can be accomplished, all can be raised up in love and all is successful in that light and love and grace that is God. When you put your minds in this world you focus upon the fears of many and then you limit the potential that is God. God is limitless and if you focus in God, you are limitless as well. Do not limit the potential that is, but rather open up to that limitless part of yourself and show all that seek to understand that they too are limitless when they open up to God.

A greater lesson cannot be learned for once you have entered into that limitless state, once you have entered into that Divine love, you will understand. Each of you have touched a point of the limitless of God and each of you here have now begun to sense the difference and what it is like to be separated when you limit. When you are limited your heart is lonely, but when you are limitless it is filled with God. Let that be a guiding post. Let that point guide you every day back into the limitless state that is.

At this time, we will not concern ourselves with these fears and with these points of limitation within the mind that you question, because it only grounds the energy back into the small mind and heart of man that is emotion. It only places your conscious focus back into the negative realities. So let us look into the light instead at this moment. Let us enter into God and his love and that expression that leads us into success and let that be the path that we follow. In God all things are possible and in those possibilities we grow into God. So enter into those possibilities that are the expression of God in our lives. Unite in his love and let all rejoice. We will leave at this time for you to contemplate that which has been focused. We will come yet again and give further understanding according to your questions, but at this time you need to contemplate that which has been given.

In light and love, in joy and peace, our hearts unite as one. In God we come forth as the created ones, expressing his true will. In God we come forth as one, expressing his true love. In God we come forth as one, expressing his true light. So let us go forth this day and each day... the light of the Holy Spirit. We place each of our hearts, minds and souls into this pure white light that the highest good may come forth for each of us here and for the service that we seek to perform and fulfilling the desire of the Masters and of the Holy Spirit. We call forth this day, the light of the invocation that peace on earth may be known to man. That the love of God may be known within their hearts that the wisdoms may fill the minds of men and that all may truly know God.

Let us play our small parts to fulfill that great mission. Guide us, protect us with that Divine light and love. Ever show us the path and help us to walk the path and veer not from it. As we open our hearts in love, may we be reflected of the greater love that is God and may daily we go forth and share that greater love with all for this all the mission is about - the sharing of the greater love that is God. And in that sharing all shall come forth and be manifested according to the will that is God. So we offer our hearts, our minds and our souls at this time. Bring them into alignment with the Divine plan and help us to fulfill that plan for all may be aligned once again to the knowing of God so let it be...

As you walk through life always look at life in a very practical manner. Whenever you see something within your life causing confusion, whenever something becomes a dilemma within your life, that is the time to reevaluate the situations around you and see what it is that is taking place at that time. For in dilemma is confusion and in confusion you lose sight of the practical life, the life of putting into action that which is spirit. It is though you were on a treadmill ever running. All you want to do is to know God within, but life places you on a treadmill ever running after this and after that and yet as you run upon that readmill you find that you don't know where. If only you could stop and stand there for a moment, you would know that God is. So when you find yourself in a dilemma in situations that seem to have no solutions, stop running after the thoughts and the emotions that involve themselves with that dilemma and stand quiet for a moment and become once again in God. And as you do, you will find the dilemma to be solved within itself for when you are focused and centered in God, only light can prevail and dilemmas, problems and situations will be dissolved.

Over these past few days we have begun to present to you an understanding. A great deal of knowledge has been given, but more than knowledge there has been the sense of love developed - a love within yourself for God, a love of each of you here and a love that will prevail between you and us here in the Council chambers. If you stay centered within that love, then all shall come according to the plan that we have set forth. We cannot predict everything that will happen nor can we plan for every event that may come upon the path, but we try our best to lay down a plan that is workable just as you here sit quietly day after day and lay out a plan within your mind that seems workable and plausible. We too do the same. We may have a greater vision of that which is involved in these situations as we plan for the present, but we have to allow that each man has free choice in his life and that right of free choice we cannot plan for each day each of you here and all must choose the path that they will walk and each moment of each day you are choosing whether to stay on the path of light or to go back more to the earthly darkness. Each moment that that choice is made affects the flow of the future.

We plan that all will plan of life, of light. In that planning for themselves to choose that path, we lay down certain patterns that might be unfolded before them to help them in coming into that greater light. This is what we have done here. This is what we have done in the past within the core group. We laid down the patterns and we gave them the right to choose and the process of choosing some of that which is laid down in the pattern we have set forth in the core group was successful and other parts of it was not because those involved chose yet a different path than that which we laid down. That is fine and that is good because that is their choice and that is their pattern of growth and we give them the right to do so. Just as we give you the right to choose and to lay down the patterns of life that you wish for yourself. We only offer ideas for the betterment of self and for humanity, but we do not make the choices for you.

If you choose to take up these patterns that we lay down, then the responsibilities that come with those patterns are yours to fulfill and fulfilling those responsibilities, personal growth comes forth and the path unfolds yet greater light for you. And if you choose not to fulfill those patterns, then other responsibilities come forth for you to handle as well, different ones in different ways. There is no way of getting out of responsibility. There is always the responsibilities of karma that need to be dealt with as well as present unfoldment and being responsibility for the moment's actions as well. But if you take the responsibilities of today and handle them to the fullest that you are capable, the responsibilities of tomorrow will not be that difficult and as you place those responsibilities more and more unto the light, you will find soon that the light will be doing a lot of the work for you. It will bring those to you and will take those responsibilities and fulfill them or it will give you the keys to make it work without a great deal of effort.

In the beginning it takes effort on your part and that effort is love. If you put love into your work it will unfold according to God's laws. If you take those responsibilities and make them a burden in your mind, then truly they become a burden and you struggle and you work and you fight your way to make them happen. It is your choice, for each of you have free choice and that is the key - what do you choose for your life. Do you choose to flow in the light of God or do you choose to walk in the maya of earth in the delusions and the illusions that exist in the earthly life? Some walk the path they see the light but they still play the game of illusion. We see in you, each of you here, yet a greater vision. You strive to hold truth before you, the truth that is God and you strive to bring that level of perfection that is God forth from the center of your being. Ever stay focused in that center of love and you shall prevail to the end and be successful. You shall find that in prevailing that the path shall open before you and that that which you seek to do shall come to you and it shall be done with little effort.

You laid down several years ago certain ideas that we wished to see fulfilled within the foundation and as you discussed today you began to see that truly a lot of these things have already come to pass, that they are starting to unfold before your very eyes. Let them unfold according to the plan. You cannot go out to a rosebush and force the rosebud to open any faster without destroying the flower itself. So let the flower of the foundation unfold according to natural plan and let it open petal by petal until finally the flower blossoms fully and the beauty of the rose is there for all to see. If you try to force those petals open before the bud is ready, all can be destroyed.

Remember this too, that if one petal seems imperfect in its nature, do not judge the flower by that petal for that petal adds a certain enhancement to the beauty of the rose and at times the imperfection makes the perfection stand forth greater so that all can look and see that perfection can be amongst imperfection. The flower does not die because one petal seems imperfect it continues to blossom and give forth its beauty for all to see. So let it be here as well, and realize that each of us have our imperfect petals. Let us take care of those imperfect petals within us that is upon our flower within our hearts, and as we take care of those imperfections within us the imperfections of those around us will melt away because they will not concern us. They will not be a problem to us because only perfection will prevail in our midst and now if you have a question...

BF Bless you and thank you for this opportunity and your effort in this process become collectively to strive for the highest good of all. We have some questions regarding the material given in the past. The first question deals with the logo of I.I.I. as has been given to Jim in the past. Does this symbol represent the desired trademark of I.I.I. - the symbol of the intertwining heart?

** This is a symbol that would be very beneficial in the presentation of that which the Institute would represent. For here you have the interlocking hearts, showing how love flows from one unto the other ever intermingling, ever working together in harmony and balance. The love of God intermingling with the love of man and the love of man intermingling with the love of man. So here you have a true flow of love represented within this structure as well you also have much the same symbolism as the symbol for the Archangel Michael represented here. Again, you have the flow of his work being presented in this symbol and being allowed to manifest without being offensive to anyone.

To your knowledge is this symbol already patented by another group, would you know that?

** There is a symbol that is similar to this though it is somewhat different and there should be no difficulty in getting this one accepted as a trademark for the Institute. If there is difficulty we can always change the character of it to some extent. It would be very difficult not to have it accepted if God and in His will wanting it accepted, it will be accepted accordingly.

Perhaps in this next question I have I have more to learn even after the messages rendered yesterday. But the first question I have is - are mental gymnastics required to manage money, are the mental gymnastics that are required to manage money relevant in spiritual growth?

** Spirit is spirit and physical is physical. The mental gymnastics that you speak of helps you to perfect the physical and helps you to understand better the laws of the physical universe and in doing so, and in perfecting the understanding of the physical universe, the spirit is allowed to work then within this realm much easier, but mental gymnastics does not enhance spiritual growth in the sense does not bring fully into soul consciousness by working the mind over and over again and again. You reach soul transcendence through meditation. That is the path to soul transcendence. You do not reach it through any aspect of the physical universe but in order to present the purity of soul into the physical universe the perfections and understandings of the different levels of the physical universe are a necessity. And so the mental gymnastics help you to understand the mind, help you to control it and perfect it so that then the soul can come in reflective flight through the mind and into this physical universe much easier.

As well, through these mental gymnastics as you call them, it allows you to come to an understanding of how better to function in this world and to fulfill then the functions of God and the soul in this world. The only time that the mental gymnastics really are detrimental is when they become the controlling factor or they become an end in themselves. See them as a tool and not as the final result. These are things you are coming into very good understanding of in these last few days for now you understand what it is to live in the heart and now you understand what it is to experience the light of the soul reflecting into this world. And now you know what it is to be in the mind and you can look at all three levels; now is the time that you are going to enter into a path of learning to balance and work with them equally.

BF I would therefore forfeit an opportunity to grow if I were not allowed to take on some of these mental responsibilities?

** Yes, definitely, you would do great damage to your growth.
